

PRIVACY POLICY update European regulation 679/16

COLLECTED DATA

Case4Freedom srl collects the indispensable data for a correct management of the commercial relation inherent to its own activity and those required by the regulations in force for a correct fiscal management.

DATA USAGE

- Case4Freedom uses the data it collects for the following purposes:
- Providing a Service;
- Send promotional communications with your specific consent if required;
- Evaluate and analyze the market of Case4Freedom and its customers, products, marketing campaigns and services to better understand, through statistical processing where necessary, customers in order to offer them communications, services and the most relevant experience for them.
- Ask Case4Freedom users to express their opinion about services and conduct customer surveys with their specific consent if required;
- Provide after-sales service
- In other way with the specific consent of the interested parties.

DATA SHARING

- Business Partners. Case4Freedom can share information from stakeholders with reliable business partners, including, without limitation, its own tax, administrative and legal advisors. These entities may use this information to provide our users with the services requested by them, and may send them information and product specifications and other material with their specific consent.
- Service provider. Case4Freedom may disclose the data of interested parties to carefully selected companies that provide services for us or on our behalf, such as companies that collaborate with Case4Freedom also for customer satisfaction, billing, or sending e-mails on behalf of Case4Freedom. These entities are limited, on the basis of contractual provisions, in the possibility of using such data for purposes other than the provision of services on behalf of Case4Freedom.
- Other parts required by law or necessary to protect the Case4Freedom services. Situations may arise in which Case4Freedom communicates the information of the interested parties to third parties: - to comply with the law or to respond to mandatory legal action, for example a search warrant or other court order;
- Other parties in connection with company operations. Case4Freedom can communicate the data of the interested parties to third parties in the context of a merger or a transfer, an acquisition or a sale, or in case of bankruptcy.
- Other parties, with the consent or at the request of the interested parties. In addition to the disclosure cases described in this Privacy Statement, Case4Freedom may share information with third parties on interested parties when the latter gives their specific consent or requests it.

DATA PROTECTION

- Case4Freedom takes the data protection of the parties concerned seriously and has taken appropriate technical and physical measures to protect the information collected in connection with the services provided. However, note that although Case4Freedom takes reasonable precautions to protect information, no website, Internet transmission, computer or wireless connection is completely secure.

INTERNATIONAL DATA TRANSFER

The use of the services will involve the transfer, storage and processing of personal data of the interested parties outside your country of residence, in England and specifically London, according to the methods described in this Privacy Policy Note that the laws in force Data protection and other laws of countries outside the European Economic Area to which data may be transferred may offer a lower level of protection than the country of residence of the parties concerned. Case4Freedom will take precautionary measures to safeguard data protection. For more information please contact: info@case4freedom.com

RIGHTS OF INTERESTED PARTIES

The interested party has the right to request details about their personal data collected and to ask Case4Freedom to correct any inaccuracies in such data, to oppose the processing of their personal data or to request the restriction, and to request access to their personal data or their deletion or portability.

To request access to data concerning him, please contact: info@case4freedom.com

The interested party requesting the deletion of personal data acknowledges that they may no longer be able to access or use the services and that personal data may continue to be present in the records and archives of Case4Freedom for a certain period, in compliance with applicable law, but that Case4Freedom srl will not treat them for commercial purposes. The interested party understands that, despite its request for cancellation, Case4Freedom reserves the right to keep your personal data, or a good part of them, in compliance with the following section on "Data Retention" and applicable laws.

DATA CONSERVATION

Case4Freedom will not store the personal data of the interested parties for longer than necessary for the purposes for which they were collected. This means that data will be destroyed or deleted from Case4Freedom systems when they are no longer needed.

Case4Freedom shall take appropriate measures to ensure that the data of the parties concerned are processed and stored according to the following principles:

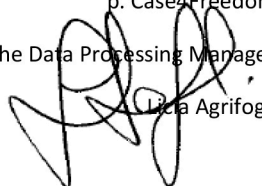

1. At least for the time necessary to provide a Service to the interested parties;
2. In accordance with the law, a contract or regarding the legal obligations of Case4Freedom
3. Only for the time necessary to fulfill the purpose for which they are collected, processed, or for a longer time, if it is required under a contract, by applicable law or for statistical purposes, provided they are subject to adequate protection

CONTACT US

- Case4Freedom pays attention to the privacy of its customers. Since we pay this attention, we take all measures to ensure the services provided.
- All the data we collect is used to offer the best products and services. In doing so, we always ensure that your data is protected and used only when it is essential for us to provide you with a service or product. We are aware of the process to which your data are subject to make it safe, secure and compliant with the requirements of applicable privacy laws. We accept the necessary changes following the introduction of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

From our address to: info@case4freedom.com you can exercise any of the six rights provided by the GDP.

Prato 22 May 2018

p. Case4Freedom
The Data Processing Manager

Licia Agrifogli